He Prevents the Tearing Up of His Cows Covered with Sores-Some Street-Car Rails.

ICNG ISLAND CITY, L. I. April 28 .there was a disturbance at 7 o'clock this between rival forces of men emoved by ex-Mayor Patrick Jerome Gleason, who is building an electric railroad from Long sland City to Flushing, and the Brooklyn city Railway Company, which is also building an electric railroad from Brooklyn to jushing. Gleason has 200 men on his job and the Brooklyn City Railway Company is moloying an equal number.

The trouble began when the Brooklyn City Railway employees began tearing up pleason's tracks at Junction and Jackson enues. The Brooklyn folks wanted the for their own tracks, and they lought the quickest way to get it was to ar up Gleason's tracks. This they proceeded ut this feeling soon gave way to genuine

Foreman P. J. Harrington, who was formerly Gleason's Commissioner of Public Works, was in charge of Gleason's men. His anger, his fist, his color and his voice all rose at once, and a thoroughly mad man strode up to the Brooklyn crowd and demanded to know what they meant by tearing up his track. Gleason's men backed up Harrington. They glared at the Brooklyn employees. The Brooklyn employees glared back at the Gleason cohorts.

While hostilities were pending Harrington telephoned to Gleason, who drove furiously to the coene of conflict.

His arrival gave new color to the affair and turned the tide in his invor. The Brooklyn men ceased their attempts to tear up his track. But there was ominous menace in the air, and trouble may break out at any moment. The opposing forces are watching each other narrowly.

have two children.
In January, 1889, Mrs. Treneman brought a similar suit against her husband, and obtained judgment, with $25 and, and obtained judgment, with $20 a month alimony. In the same year Treneman fell from a telegraph pole and broke his leg. He sent for his wife, and she nursed him. A reconciliation was the result.

Mrs. Treneman alleges that her husband soon after renewed his cruel treatment.

in October, 1891, Mrs. Treneman al-leges that her husband knocked her lown, pulled her about the house by the hair and drove her into the street. Treneman makes a general denial. Judge Osborne took the papers and re-served decision.

The Grand Jury for April returned to the Court of Sessions in Brooklyn, this morning, sult of their investigation into certain marters. Judge Moore received the paper and then discharged the Grand Jury. The presentment covers sixteen pages of foolscap The substance of the report is as follows.

The substance of the report is as follows.

"The Grand Jury visited the Penitentiary unexpectedly to the keeper, Patribk Hayes. They made a thorough examination of the building and its condition was faultless and the prisoners were healthy in appearance.

"The St. Johniand Farm was given a thorough overhauling, and while we acknowledge the magnificent site selected, its charming hills and dales and placid water front, we are struck by the slowness in the erection of buildings for the inmates of our county institution."

"This property has already cost the county buildings for the immates of our county institution.

"This property has already cost the county nearly $3,000,000, and from authentic and reliable sources will be finished at the fabulous sum of $9,000,000.

"They investigated the Board of Health of the town of Flatlands and find from the testimony of the members that the sale of impure milk has been carried on for years.

The cows are swill fed and are never exercised. Their bodies are restering with sores. The milk is sold to the citizens of Brooklyn by hundreds of deelers, bearing the name of New Mown Hay Dairy, or some other attractive shibbolet to attract attention.

"This milk is sold to children and babies, and possibly in many cases to drink and die." The Board of Health of the town of Flatlands deliberately allowed, much to its disgrace, this shameful abomination.

The Board of Health of the city of Brooklyn grace, this snameful abomination.
The Board of Health of the city of Brooklyn should exercise such vigilance, and its inspectors should arrest every swill-milk fealer who tries to sell the damnable stuff in this city.

"They recommend that the Street-Clean-place at Dr. Baker's church at 5 o'clock ing Department, according to contract, should have the streets and highways wetted should have the streets and highways wetted before being swept.

"The Board of Aldermen should pass an ordinance regulating the speed of all cars, trolley, surface or steam."

The Grand Jury recommends, in addition to the license fee of $20 per car, the railroad companies should pay into the city treasury a fair percentage of its revenue from advertisements and stations, to which the companies never acquired the right.

It is also recommended that the fire limits be extended over the entire city, and the amending the laws governing grand juries at the next Constitutional Convention, so as to give them further time to investigate the jail cases and the graver abuses of municipal laws.
